APPIAN WAY CUT

Anzio Yanks Pocket Nazis, Seize Mile of Road to Rome

Reunion in Winthrop—Parted by war for two years, Machinist's Mate 1/c Odell Robinson holds gay reunion with his daughter, Kathaleen, 3, and wife upon his return today to his Somerset st., Winthrop, home. Arriving unexpected in Boston by air, he telephoned his wife . . . who dashed to his side.

Mile of Appian Way Captured by Yanks

By NOLAND NORGAARD

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Naples, May 24 (AP)—U. S. troops bursting from the Anzio beachhead have seized a mile-long chunk of the Appian Way to Rome.

The great Allied pincer push from the east has breached the Hitler Line in the Liri Valley and in the center, headquarters announced today.

Other Americans striking up from the south have seized Monte Alto, 10 miles north of Terracina and only 19 miles from Littoria on the beachhead.

This shaped a wide pocket for Germans in the whole stretch of mountains and Pontine marshes below the beachhead to Terracina.

American beachhead forces drove on powerfully today, a front dispatch said, after breaking through to win a 2000-yard stretch of the Apian Way within a half-mile of Cisterna, and snipping the railway to Rome four miles below Velletri.

7500 PRISONERS TAKEN

The British, meanwhile, forced the Moletta river farther west, and rammed into defenses anchoring the Nazi line.

The co-ordinated main front offensive smashed forward, with Canadians breaching the Hitler fortifications near Pontecorvo—part of the formidable line across the Liri valley—while the French won Pico, pivot point in the mountains at the center of the front. The bag of prisoners for the entire offensive rose to 7500.

(The German high command acknowledged "major breaches" on several sectors of the front.)

The Americans on the lower front advanced 10 miles in 36 hours to take the dominating heights of Monte Alto and push closer to junction with beachhead troops.

YANKS PERIL NAZI RETREAT

The Germans' situation on the main front was potentially grave, especially in the Liri valley. Their main supply or retreat route is Highway 6 or Via Casilina, leading from the valley 65 miles to Rome. Americans driving out from the beachhead are only 11 miles from this key road.

French-American units attacking north of Pico present a still more immediate threat of cracking the Germans facing the Eighth Army in the Liri valley.

Whatever enemy forces are holding Terracina and the nearby coastal areas at the southern end of the Pontine marshes, they have only one feasible retreat route—a lateral road through Priverno toward Valmontone — and the Americans who took Monte Alto were last reported only three miles from this road.

(A Berlin military commentator declared the Allies "staked everything on one card" trying to link up their main and Anzio forces. He admitted slight advances by the Allies north of Terracina toward the beachhead. He asserted the attempt to unhinge German defenses at Pontecorvo and Piedimonte in the Liri valley sector had been frustrated with heavy losses. Allied artillery fire in the new attacks was "of unprecedented fierceness," he added.)

GAIN 30 MILES

French troops near the right flank of the main Fifth Army front captured Pico after prolonged and bitter fighting, smashing German tank counter-attacks.

From this stronghold they were driving deep into the flank of the hard-pressed Nazi defenders of Hitler line frontal positions in the Liri valley.

Farther south other units of Lieut.-Gen. Mark W. Clark's forces hurled the enemy out of Lenola, on a vital lateral road running north through Valle Corsa toward Frosinone.

The Fifth Army's penetration from its jumping off places on the main front in the current offensive now exceeds 30 miles.

Heavy fighting continued in all sectors as the enemy strove desperately to halt the beachhead thrust which in a few hours cut one of the main lines of supply and retreat for the menaced Tenth German Army barely over 20 miles south of Rome.

Headquarters of Gen. Sir Harold Alexander declared the whole operation was going according to plan.

ITALY—Swinging around the Nazi-held bastion of Terracina, Yanks have taken Monte Alto, only 19 miles from Littoria on the beachhead . . . while our forces at Anzio have struck out in a vigorous attack, taking a 2000-yard stretch of the Appian Way near Cisterna and cutting the railway to Rome.

5000 Planes Rip Berlin, Vienna, Paris Railways

By GLADWIN HILL

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—A predominantly-American force of around 5000 planes bombed Berlin, Vienna and Paris today in what well may be the greatest Allied aerial assault of the war, official announcements and German radio reports said.

Up to 2000 U. S. heavy bombers and fighters soared from Britain for twin attacks on Berlin and German airfields fringing Paris.

Another great armada of Mediterranean Air Force bombers and fighters swept across the Alps from Italy and battled to the area of Vienna, railroad transport and airplane manufacturing center of southeast Europe, the Berlin radio said.

Wave upon wave of U. S. medium Marauders shook the threatened French invasion coast with bomb loads that rattled houses in England, 20 miles across the English channel.

AWE-INSPIRING FURY

South Coast British dwellers said the outpouring of aerial strength was awe-inspiring, the greatest many had ever seen. The attacks carried the renewed aerial assault through its sixth consecutive day, running the bomb total to above 25,000 tons for the period.

The Berlin attack was the fourth U. S. blow at the rubbled German capital this month and came less than 12 hours after a rain of two-ton blockbusters from British Mosquitos. The swift, wooden planes also dumped destructive cargoes on Dortmund and French railroads before dawn. They suffered no loss.

Germany's thinly stretched air defenses were split wide open, but the Nazis insisted intense battles were fought over Berlin, the Baltic region and in the Vienna section. The Paris radio said south, southwest and southeast suburbs of Paris were bombed and "damage was considerable."

CALLS IT TERRORISM

"This is an ordeal of terrorism for the entire population," the German commentator, Dr. Joseph Saal, said over the Nazi network, "this marks the eve of decisive operations against the continent. Our opponents are deliberately striking at the German capital, trying to break their moral resistance."

The great air fleets started parading across the channel just after dawn on this, British Empire Day, and kept channel skies filled for four hours. At noon, more contingents droned over the southeast coast.

U. S. headquarters announced that in attacks yesterday on two rail yards and six airbases in France, good results were attained on seven targets.

Bombers flying in the Paris area reported seeing no German fighters and moderate to intense flak. They were able to drop low and strafe railroads.

One fighter group on another continental sweep reported shooting up 23 locomotives, a grounded plane and glider and destroying two German interceptors.

"The flak came through and hit me in the pants but I had on a flak suit and it didn't bother me," said Sergt. T. E. Greany, Worcester, Mass. "Another piece hit an ammunition box but luckily it didn't explode."

Invasion Weather

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—A warm sun sent the temperature up to nearly 70 degrees by 8 a. m. today as cloudless weather prevailed along the English invasion coast, but a haze limited visibility over Dover strait during the morning.

The sea remained calm, with only a light southerly breeze blowing, while the barometer was high and steady.

Churchill War Talk Counts Turkey Out

By CHARLES A. SMITH

LONDON, May 24 (INS)—Germany will have to undergo territorial changes after the war if such changes will render the peace of Europe more secure, Prime Minister Churchill declared today.

Churchill's statement was made to Commons in an address in which he disclosed that Britain had ceased efforts to get Turkey to come into the war on the side of the Allies.

"The Allies will win the Balkans," he said, "but it may take longer without Turkey's help."

After revealing efforts to "exhort Turkey to range herself with the victorious United Nations" had ceased, he said significantly:

"Turkey cannot expect to have a strong position at the peace as she would have had if she had joined the Allies."

BAN ON FASCISM

The speech was part of a debate on foreign affairs. Highlights of his statements included:

1—The Allies will not permit any form of Fascism to be established in any country with which they have been at war.

2—The Germans will be cleared out of Italy.

3—Britain is firmly behind the Yugoslav Partisan forces of Marshal Tito, and he interpreted the necessity of a change in the Yugoslav cabinet to mean ousting of Gen. Draja Mihailovich as war minister.

4—Unconditional surrender remains the only terms for peace as far as Germany and Japan are concerned.

5—French Gen. Charles de Gaulle has accepted his invitation to come to England to discuss the future government of France.

Churchill said the Allies would fight on together until Germany is forced to capitulate. After that, he continued, it is the Allied intention to take measures to insure their children and grandchildren are protected from war by a world order equipped with full power to prevent wars by restless or ambitious nations.

This plan will be undertaken, he

'Seers' Angle For Big Money

By PAULINE WARREN

The majority of fortune-tellers around Boston operate in dank little holes-in-the-wall, or in none-too-clean suburban homes, but there are a few big-league operators who weave elaborate snares to entice hapless victims into their opulent parlors.

Lorene Quincy, 14-year-old Kansas City girl whose father gave her an old-fashioned spanking for bringing home an 18-year-old husband, Merl Carlson, was back in her dad's home today after he relented and invited the couple "to stay until we can figure this out." Lorene and Merl (shown) and another young couple were married in a double ceremony last Saturday.

These headliners are the most deadly of the species. Their fees are exorbitant—yet so well do they sell their pseudo-scientific pretensions they sometimes swindle their clients into converting even War Bonds for cash just to hear their pronouncements.

Most of these big-timers masquerade as "advisors" or "analysts."

With three other representatives of the Record-American, I hunted down a few of these high-powered self-styled "analysts." We discovered that they, too, like their humbler colleagues, prey on the saddest link of our home front—the next-of-kin of dead or maimed service men whose minds have become unbalanced by grief.

But these suave vultures who feed on the heart-break of the desolate are much cleverer than their lesser brethren. They are careful to hedge their predictions, tone down their horror tales. Their way is much more insidious; they promise success and happiness—they flatter—they cajole—they sometimes even charm the unfortunates who consult them into falling in love with them. And it's all just so much more money in the till.

This is the "big business" method of fortune telling, when money is available and fakery is brought to artistic heights.

CITES FLAGRANT CASE

A flagrant example of this type of high-pressure snares for the unwary is a certain Dr. Saturn, to give him a name as absurd as the one he has assumed for his nefarious calling.

His establishment parades under a weighty title evocative of an institution of religious learning.

Obviously he is spending money with a lavish hand to make his place impressive. There are to be chapels, halls and classrooms. So far these are still dirty and dusty.

ISOBEL OWEN
$2500 Verdict Against Doctor

$2500 Verdict Awarded Nurse

Miss Isobel Owen of Morris st., Everett, registered nurse, today won a $2500 award in a sealed verdict returned by a Suffolk Superior Court jury which considered her $100,000 damage suit against Dr. John F. Williams, Everett physician.

The verdict was based on Miss Owen's charge that Dr. Williams caused the removal of her name from the call list at Whidden Memorial Hospital, Everett, thereby depriving her of her means of livelihood in this state.

The jurors found for the defendant on the nurse's contention that Dr. Williams also slandered her.

Lucius Knowles, Clubman, Sued By Society Wife

Charging cruel and abusive treatment, socialite Mrs. Eleanor Letitia Knowles of Beacon st., Back Bay, and Pomfret, Ct., sought a divorce today from Lucius J. Knowles, Harvard graduate and prominent clubman, in Suffolk Probate Court.

Mrs. Knowles, the former Eleanor L. Barbour, asked in her petition for alimony and the right to resume her maiden name. The couple have no children.

Trial of the suit opened in Judge John V. Mahoney's session and was preceded by a bench conference with opposing counsel.

Mrs. Knowles, wearing dark glasses and accompanied by an older woman, sat in the courtroom during the conference. Her husband was not present.

Knowles, who was graduated from Harvard in 1927 is a member of the Somerset, Tennis and Racquet and Essex County Clubs.

'Eloping' Hubby Jailed for Year

Tracked down by his wife after he had embarked on a New Hampshire week-end with a 23-year-old girl, William Pegram, 25, Prospect st., Cambridge, was sentenced to a year in the house of correction today after conviction for abduction, in East Cambridge court.

Judge Arthur P. Stone found him guilty of abducting a fellow worker at the Badger Paper Box Co., Cambridge.

Police said Pegram had led the girl to believe he was divorced. The couple went to Nashua, accompanied by a youth of 16 and an 18-year-old girl, last week.

Pegram's wife told police he disappeared last Friday after leaving her with no money, then telephoned her from Nashua Sunday morning to say he had been on a drinking trip with several other men. She said he asked her to send him money but she did not have any.

Friends of hers, she added, tipped her off her husband had confided he intended to marry his fellow worker. They supplied her with the girl's address.

Police took the "elopers" into custody yesterday. Also held for questioning were the juveniles who made the trip.

Find Film Woman Beaten to Death

HOLLYWOOD, May 24 (AP)—Clad only in a man's shirt, Mrs. Ruth Evans, 31-year-old film studio employe, was found mortally beaten on a residence porch.

"I've been to a party up the street and my clothes are in the house," Police Officer J. D. Temple quoted Mrs. Evans as saying. Before she died, she said, "I must have been in an accident," and directed officers to a house a block away where Temple said they found Carl Bedford, bartender, asleep.

Man, 72, Pinned Under Street Car

Pinned under a street car at Washington and Northampton sts., South End, 71-year-old Thomas W. Mulholland, Freeport st., Dorchester, was taken to City Hospital today with critical injuries.

The mechanical "lifeguard" on the front of the car saved the elderly victim from being crushed beneath the wheels.

Pastor's Secretary Stabbed To Death in Detroit Church

DETROIT, May 24 (AP)—Mrs. Jean Long, secretary to the pastor of the Twelfth Street Evangelical Church, was found stabbed to death in the church today.

Police said the pastor, the Rev. N. C. Liesemer, reported discovering the body at 9 a. m. There were several stab wounds in her body, police said.

Mrs. Long, who is about 40, was reported last seen leaving the home of the Rev. Mr. Liesemer at 8:30 p. m. yesterday.

OPA Raises Tire Hopes

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—New tires may start rolling this fall to "A" card automobile drivers whose hopes and treads have been wearing thin together.

First, Charles F. Phillips, the OPA's new chief of rationing, said in an interview today that "A" card drivers can expect their first new tires since the start of the war when monthly allocations of synthetics climb to 2,000,000 from the May quota of 1,400,000.

And, from the office of the rubber director, where the allocations are set, it was learned that production of passenger car tires probably will reach the 2,000,000 mark sometime in October, November or December.

As for gasoline, Phillips said there was "nothing to indicate" that the "A" ration can be increased during the present quarter, ending July 1, and that any boost in the third quarter will be dependent on allocations from the Petroleum Administration for War.

He said a study of whether it will be possible to increase the "B" ration this quarter has not been completed.

Phillips stressed that not all "A" card motorists will be able to obtain new tires this year. Applications will be screened by local rationing boards, and certificates will go first to those whose driving is considered most essential.

He said it probably would take three or four months to meet the demand of all "A" motorists. All "B" and "C" card drivers, Phillips pointed out, have been eligible for new tires since May 1, but it is expected there will be a backlog of applications until at least August.

Phillips said his first aim with regard to gasoline is to increase the "B" ration in the East from the present maximum of 325 miles of driving a month to 475 miles.

Two of Quads Losing Ground

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—The condition of the youngest of the quadruplets born to Mrs. Daisy Moxham was described at South End Hospital today as "not so good."

An apparent improvement earlier had given rise to more optimistic reports.

Mrs. Moxham is the wife of an RAF flying officer.

The quads—three boys and a girl—are in a specially heated and air-conditioned ward, where they are being fed at half-hour intervals. During the night they were given a few drops of brandy.

Japs Treat Prisoners Well, Vatican Told

BRISBANE, Australia, May 24 (AP)—Japan's general treatment of Allied prisoners of war in camps is in accordance with international conventions, Archbishop Paul Marella, apostolic delegate to Japan, has reported to the Vatican, the Netherlands news agency Aneta said today.

The prisoners, according to the report, complain chiefly of difficulties arising from the extreme differences between their own mentality and customs and those of the Japanese, Aneta said.

Edgar Wallace Son Killed

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—Capt. Michael Blair Wallace, youngest son of the late Edgar Wallace, famous writer of mystery stories, has been killed in action, it was announced today.

Robinson, a motor machinist's mate, first class, in the Coast Guard, put his philosophy into practice immediately today when he arrived to see his wife, Dorothea, 23, and their three-year-old daughter, Kathaleen for the first time in a year and a half.

Lean, tanned and beribboned with service insignia Robinson embraced his little family and answered his wife's first questions with:

"Yes, honey, I've seen plenty of action and had plenty of close shaves but I can't talk about it even to you. It's Navy orders."

His wife plied him with the bacon and five eggs, fruit juice, coffee and toast, then packed him off to bed. As the door closed behind him she declared: "He's going to stay right there all day and I wouldn't open that door before he wakes up even if President Roosevelt told me to!"

Clarify Seizure Law, Biddle Says

WASHINGTON, May 24 (INS)—Atty.-Gen. Francis Biddle said today he is convinced President Roosevelt had proper authority to take over the Chicago plant of the Montgomery Ward Co., but that if Congress believes otherwise the House and Senate should immediately revise the law.

"I am in favor of any changes that will make the meaning of the act (war labor disputes act) clear and remove doubts as to its application to particular situations," Biddle told the House committee investigating the seizure.

"If the Congress believes that in this case the President exceeded his statutory authority, that authority should be clearly defined so that he may be guided accordingly," he declared.

Leather Strikers To Vote Tonight

PEABODY, May 24—Striking engineers and firemen, whose walkout last Thursday forced closing of 30 North Shore tanneries and affected more than 3000 leather workers in the Salem-Peabody area, will hold a mass meeting tonight to consider a proposal for settlement of the dispute.

24-Day Marriage Of 2 Women Ends

LOS ANGELES, May 24 (AP)—A marriage between two women, which lasted for 24 days before the "wife" discovered the other's sex, has been annulled by Superior Judge Henry M. Willis.

Plaintiff in yesterday's action was Shirley Mae Boston, who said she went through a marriage ceremony in Las Vegas in 1942 with Jerry Boston, 30, whose true name, she said, was Tremia Boston.

She testified Jerry told her they should not live together as man and wife immediately, and that she did not know the other was a woman until informed by Jerry's sisters 24 days after the ceremony.

Skelton is now scheduled for induction June 7 unless further deferments are granted.

Texas Split Stirs Democrats

By The Associated Press

Texas Democrats posed a tough problem today for the National Convention in their split into two fighting factions, one chosing an uninstructed slate of delegates and another picking a delegation pledged to support 16 years in the White House for President Roosevelt.

It will be up to the national gathering at Chicago in July to decide which group shall be seated.

The pro-Roosevelt faction lost two test votes on instructing the state's 48 delegates, withdrew and named their own "to work and fight" for President Roosevelt's renomination.

Those in the original convention voted to send an uninstructed delegation, declaring in advance that Texas electors should not vote for the party nominees unless the national convention takes a stand against the Supreme Court ruling that Negroes may vote in Texas Democratic primaries.

Things went smoothly in the Texas Republican convention at Houston which voted to send its 33 delegates to the national convention uninstructed. Anti-Administration speeches by Gov. John W. Bricker of Ohio and others were loudly welcomed.

The delegates caucused after the convention and decided not to follow the vote-as-a-unit rule, indicating they would divide at least their first ballot votes between Bricker and Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York.

At Washington, meanwhile, supporters of Gov. Bricker said today they would carry their fight for the Republican nomination into the national convention despite the formidable backing piled up behind Dewey in state-by-state choices of delegates.

Miller's Wife Resumes Lind Murder Trial Story

WASHINGTON, May 24 (AP)—The blonde and buxom 42-year-old wife of veteran lawyer Robert L. Miller, was called back today for further testimony in defense of her husband, charged with the murder of his police court colleague, Dr. John E. Lind, psychiatrist named by Mrs. Miller as the third corner of a shattered love triangle.

Calmly and quietly yesterday, she told the court and jury that Lind "wouldn't let me give him up," and that he had "threatened to tell Bob unless I paid all his bills for him." Over a period of five years, she said, she gave or loaned Lind about $5000 in order to keep their relations secret.

But Miller finally found out she said, and "he cried all night." She continued to see Lind and she recounted how last Feb. 21 Miller followed them and before the eyes of a mid-day shopping crowd, fatally shot the psychiatrist in his car in downtown Washington.

TELLS OF SHOOTING

Witnesses have testified that Miller approached Lind's automobile in which Mrs. Miller was sitting, and after a struggle, shot Lind twice and backed away, saying, "I shot him in self-defense." He said Lind had "pulled a gun" on him. Another pistol was found in an envelope on the automobile seat beside the psychiatrist.

Mrs. Miller, telling of the payments to Lind, said she hadn't wanted her husband to know of her association with the man who frequently appeared in police court with her husband, in the capacity of psychiatrist.

"I didn't want to hurt Bob that much," she said.

"I observed the gun on the seat when I opened the car door to step in," she testified.

ORDERS WIFE OUT

"Bob followed me to the curb and said, 'Marguerite, get out of this car.' He started pulling on my arm and leg.

"Dr. Lind told me to stay right where I was, and said, 'I'll shoot that old gray-haired ——'s head off.'"

Miller's defense counsel, who questioned Mrs. Miller, conceded yesterday that the shots that killed Lind were fired "deliberately," but he asserted they were fired in self-defense by a man crazed from weeks of brooding over his wife's infidelity.

He was broken in mind and body, said the attorney, H. Mason Welch, by "weeks and weeks of incessant torture" caused by the "unlawful and illegal relationship between his wife and Lind."

Fight Swancutt Insanity Plea

CAMP ANZA, Cal., May 24 (AP)—The government lashed back today at the claim of Lieut. Beaufort G. Swancutt that he was insane when four persons were slain during and following a dance at the Camp Anza Officers' Club the night of March 5.

As the sanity issue in the court-martial neared conclusion, Trial Judge Advocate Capt. Charles A. Thomas summoned three high ranking Army officers, comprising the medical board that examined Swancutt March 29, to refute testimony of neurologists and psychiatrists for the accused.

Lieut.-Cols. Marcus D. White and Frank J. Koenig and Capt. Arthur R. Casey were summoned to relate the 31-year-old officer's mental reaction to questions concerning events prior to, during and after the burst of gunfire that ended in death for four persons and critical injury for four others.

The shooting of Dorothy Douglas and Lourdine Livermore, both 19, took place in the Officers' Club. Capt. Aubrey G. Serfling, Swancutt's superior officer, was fatally wounded in his quarters and Policeman Arthur B. Simpson was killed subsequently when, the government charges, Swancutt resisted arrest.

Although counsel for the accused maintains there was no motive for the deaths of the first three, the prosecution has intimated it intends to establish one.

The young officer has not yet pleaded in court to the murder charges. The 12-officer court is empowered to dispose of the question of sanity as soon as the last expert witness has been heard, possibly late today.

4 Dancers Die In Flash Fire

HAMILTON, Ont., May 24 (AP)—A flash fire swept through a crowded dance hall early today, killing four persons and injuring 37, nine critically.

Most of the 70 persons attending the dance in Moose Hall jumped or were crowded from second-story windows.

"They came out all in flames, like torches," a witness said.

They were attending a staff party of the Royal Oak Dairy.

The dead, all of Hamilton, were listed as Mrs. Roy Martin, 36; William Cleland, 40; Mrs. Anne Whitley, 41, and James Numbers, 39.

St. Gregory's Pastor, 76, Dies

The Rt. Rev. Monsignor Francis X. Dolan, D.D., 76, pastor of St. Gregory's Church, Dorchester Lower Mills, died last night at the rectory, the chancellory office announced today.

Mgr. Dolan, who had been in poor health for some time, was stricken Sunday during a May procession at the church. Funeral plans and officers of the mass to be held Saturday, the 51st anniversary of his ordination to the priesthood, will be announced shortly.

Ordained in Rome in 1893, he served first as a curate at the Cathedral of the Holy Cross and in 1908 was assigned to St. John's Church, Hopkinton. He was appointed pastor of St. Gregory's in 1914 and was elevated to the rank of monsignor in 1937.

He was active in civic affairs and was serving as chairman of the rationing board in his district at the time of his death.

Capt. Dorsey Trial Tomorrow

Capt. John A. Dorsey, former commander of the Charlestown station and now in charge of the bureau of operations at police headquarters, tomorrow faces a trial board of fellow captains on charges growing out of evidence presented last year during Atty.-Gen. Robert T. Bushnell's probe of Boston rackets.

The specific charges and the membership of the trial board is scheduled to be announced today by Police Commr. Thomas F. Sullivan.

Decision to place charges against Dorsey came after Attys. Charles B. Rugg and Henry L. Shattuck studied the trial evidence at the request of Commr. Sullivan.

Police Capt. Waitt Funeral on Friday

Funeral services for Capt. Lawrence L. Waitt of the Boston Police Bureau of Operations will be held Friday at noon at J. S. Waterman and Sons Funeral Home on Beacon st., Back Bay.

Burial will be at Rockport.

Final Agreement On GI Bill in Sight

By FRANK REILLY

Boston American Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, May 24—Members of the Senate-House joint conference committee on the American Legion's "GI Bill of Rights" reported they were close to final agreement on the complex veterans' measure today as they resumed deliberations after breaking a deadlock on loan provisions.

The controversy over troublesome loan sections of the bill, one of the chief stumbling blocks to early adoption of a compromise measure, ended when Chairman John E. Rankin of the House group announced the following provisions had been approved:

1—Loans to be made by the veterans' administrator to be used by the veteran as down payments on home, farm or business property.

2—A ceiling on the government's loan of $2500.

3—A ceiling on interest of 3 per cent.

4—Authorization to the veterans' administrator to make the loans through any existing agency, public or private.

The agreed terms represent a compromise between House and Senate versions of the GI bill's loan section. The House version had provided merely for a guarantee of loans which the veteran would have to seek elsewhere. The Senate bill called for actual loans, and in that respect the Senate theory was adopted.

The House version, however, had placed a maximum of $2500 on the government's share in the loans, while the Senate's top was only $1000.

The interest ceiling of three per cent, represents a yielding to the Senate bill. The House version had provided for an interest ceiling of six per cent.

Hub to Give Invasion News on ARP System

Boston will hear the stirring news of invasion over the city's public address system, originally installed to warn of invasion here at home. The Boston committee on Public Safety announced the first flash of landings will be followed by a medley of Army songs and a Catholic prayer.

A second announcement will be followed by Navy songs and a Protestant prayer, while the third broadcast will include Marine and Air Corps songs and a Jewish prayer.

State Calls Final Witnesses In Betting Conspiracy Trial

Final prosecution witnesses were called in Suffolk Superior Court today in the trial of 18 Greater Boston men charged with conspiracy to register horse bets.

They were heard after disclosure that a promisory note for $2000, with the signature James M. Curley, was found among the papers of Patrick A. Coleman, named as a co-conspirator but not on trial because of illness.

$50,000 IN BOX

The note, dated July 15, 1940, and payable within 60 days, was made out to Coleman and found in a safe deposit box containing $25,111 in cash and bonds worth nearly $5000. The box was registered to Richard Harkins, one of the defendants, but contained a notarized document showing the contents belonged to Coleman.

Contents of another safety deposit box in the name of Harkins has not yet been examined. Presence of the Curley note and the large amount of cash was testified to by Boston Police Sergt. John C. Bresnahan, attached to the office of the attorney general.

Capt. Edward J. Keating, head of the Boston police homicide squad and former commander of the South End division, on the stand prior to Bresnahan, told Judge Joseph L. Hurley and the jury that there is a "family connection" between him and Coleman.

WAIVES RIGHTS

After Asst. Atty.-Gen. Arnold Salisbury had asked Judge Hurley to warn Capt. Keating of his rights, and Keating had waived them, Salisbury brought out facts of the "family connection." Keating said his father and Coleman's brother were "connected both in a business and family way."

Keating said he was captain of Division Four from 1939 to January this year.

He identified a bundle of daily reports of sergeants of Division Four which he said he used in making his daily reports as captain of the division to his superiors.

Pacific War Today:

Japs in Full Retreat In Honan Province

By J. B. KRUEGER
Associated Press War Editor

A Chinese counter-offensive steadily gathering momentum today forced into full retreat a Japanese army aiming at the heart of China.

The weeks'-long fighting in wheat-rich Honan Province has "reached a new phase," the Chinese high command declared, and the new full-scale counter blows are forcing back the Japanese in all sectors.

Lushih, roughly 400 miles northeast of Chungking, was recaptured from the invaders. Other Chinese forces besieged in strategic Loyang furiously fought off attackers and awaited reinforcements pushing in from the southwest.

The main Chinese counter-attack appeared developing along the Lunghai railroad, heading toward Shanhsien and Loyang. Thus it seemed the threat to Tungkwan was being eased.

Myithyina in northern Burma continued a bitterly-sought prize for Gen. Stilwell's Chinese and American troops. His headquarters said Allied forces pushed further into the partly-held city and had captured a railroad junction nearby. Seizure of the junction tightened Stilwell's control of Myitkyina's airport, captured last week.

The men of the U. S. Sixth Army widened their hold on the Dutch New Guinea coast opposite captured Wakde Island. Destroyer guns and land artillery removed Japanese mortar positions, allowing the Americans to move nearer two airfields near Sarmi, opposite Wakde.

To the northwest Liberators dropped 150 tons of bombs on Biak Island in the Schouten group lying in Geelvink bay. Supply dumps were hit on Biak, which recently has come under incessant and probably significant air attack. The Schoutens lie in the path of any further westward move by Gen. MacArthur's forces.

His airmen ranged more than 1000 miles in the other direction to slug Rabaul from two directions. Enemy troops in by-passed Wewak were strafed by other air units.

Eisenhower Tips Patriots Again

LONDON, May 24 (INS)—Gen. Eisenhower, through his radio spokesman, today issued complete instructions to the underground forces of occupied Europe on the form in which detailed reports on Nazi movements must be prepared and memorized.

His listeners were urged to act with caution, deal only with known patriots, be disciplined and calm.

It was the third operational message to the underground from the Supreme Allied Commander. In it the spokesman pointed out the piecing together of bits of accurate information enables commanders to plan their action successfully.

"Adherence to a fixed plan insures a complete report," he declared.

In this connection he urged his listeners to answer the questions of when, what, how many and where, in filing reports on movements of troops and columns plus the direction taken, speed, special facts and last of all, conclusions.

"Do nothing active now," he warned, "but don't forget that accuracy will be all-important when our uniformed forces have need of your information."

Churchill

said, "only after the formidable foes we are now facing are reduced to complete submission."

Churchill said that before inviting De Gaulle to England he obtained approval of President Roosevelt.

The reason the United States and Britain have not been able to recognize the French National Committee of Liberation even as the provisional government of France, he explained, is that these nations are not sure the committee represents the French nation as do the governments of Great Britain and the United States and the Soviet represent their countries.

Churchill said he looked forward to "increasingly good relations" with Spain.

He expressed confidence relations between the Kremlin and the exiled government of Poland may not be "so bad" as they "appear" on the surface. Churchill admitted, however, efforts to bring about a renewal of relations between the two had not succeeded.

Probe Charge Reds Get U. S. Warships

By WILLIAM S. NEAL

WASHINGTON, May 24 (INS)—Rep. Vinson (D.) of Georgia, chairman of the House Naval Affairs Committee, planned to confer with Secretary of the Navy Forrestal today on reports that the United States has transferred warships to Russia while pressing a naval war against Japan.

Vinson said: "I am going to find out all about it."

The reports aroused widespread controversy in Congress. Pressure for an investigation appeared likely to develop unless the Administration makes a statement which satisfies critics of the reported transfer.

Sen. Styles Bridges (R) of New Hampshire, who told the Senate there are reports that at least one cruiser and perhaps other warships have been given to Russia, planned to demand a full explanation.

While Secretary Forrestal declined comment, it was reported that President Roosevelt personally will make a statement to the country on the question.

Sen. Chandler (D.) of Kentucky, advocate of a stronger war against Japan, expressed hope that the report is untrue.

"We need all our naval strength for the war against Japan," he said.

Sen. Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, chairman of the naval affairs committee, hinted at an investigation unless the Administration satisfies Congress.

Whiskey shortage may be a "break" for you

WHEN YOU "SAMPLE" CORBY'S

A GRAND OLD CANADIAN NAME

As they say in sports, "The way to get a 'break' is to make it!" You might make a "break" for yourself, for instance, when a whiskey clerk says, "We're out of that one." You can be sure this is due to wartime limitations, but right here may be your chance to step into a nice spot . . .

Just ask about Corby's, the whiskey with the grand old Canadian name. If this light, sociable blend is on hand, buy a "sample" bottle, carry it carefully home, proceed to mix your "best-company" drink with Corby's in proper measure. And then . . .

Have yourself a long, thoughtful drink. Compare Corby's bouquet and flavor. Like thousands of people, you may decide you've had not only one but two good "breaks" . . . a fine drink for now, and a discovery of the whiskey you'll definitely want for your favorite after Victory!

PRODUCED IN U. S. A. under the direct supervision of our expert Canadian blender.

It's true that no Corby's has been distilled since October, 1942. But reserve supplies are being distributed regularly . . . and evenly. This means you should be able to buy a "sample" bottle of Corby's some time reasonably soon. And when you do, when you follow the one-two-three suggestion above in this ad, you'll likely consider yourself "set up" on the whiskey question. You'll have a whiskey you can enjoy from time to time now, and you'll have an odds-on favorite for after Victory when there's plenty of Corby's to go around.

Veterans' Friend

Q—My husband has been in the Army since 1942 and I have a child 10 months old. I have never applied for allotment for the child. If I apply now, will the payments be retroactive to the time the child was born? W. T. A., Chelsea.

A—Family allowance for child becomes effective the first day of the month in which the application is filed.

Q—My brother was killed in action recently. Necessary papers have been filled out and filed. How does the government pay off on a $10,000 policy? A. C. T., Watertown.

A—Monthly payments shall be paid monthly to the beneficiary or beneficiaries in amounts depending upon their ages at the time of death of soldier. Veterans Bureau, Federal Building, Boston, can give you exact amount in your case, if you make request.

Q—My husband understands that he does not have to file income tax return while overseas. Does that mean that I, as his wife, also do not have to file at this time? A. S., Manchester, N. H.

A—No. Wives of servicemen are not allowed postponement in filing tax returns. This privilege is restricted only to those members of the armed forces overseas or at sea, and extends for 90 days after he returns to the continental limits of the United States.

Q—If a soldier is missing in action, how long does the government hold his pay? J. C., Cambridge.

A—The pay is held for one year unless a finding other than missing in action is made prior to the expiration of that period, whereupon the pay is handled in accordance with the new finding.

All questions submitted to the Veterans' Friend will be answered in the Record-American and Sunday Advertiser. Those desiring personal answers are requested to enclose self-addressed and stamped envelope.

Berlin to Explain 47 RAF Killings

LONDON, May 24 (AP)—The Berlin radio indicated today an official statement may be forthcoming soon on the reported shooting of 47 RAF officers at a German prison camp near Dresden.

"In view of the controversy started by the British press and the large publicity given the alleged incidents, a German statement of the shooting of 47 British airmen is being expected with great interest in Berlin," the broadcast said.

A reported German threat to try in a "people's court" Allied airmen shot down while attacking trains was viewed in London as a Nazi attempt to distract attention from the shooting incident.

Circumstances surrounding the shootings were awaited anxiously here as the result of a Stockholm dispatch to the Daily Express saying the pilots were slain by prison guards who "ran wild."

2 Districts Gain In Paper Pickup

Boston's big drive for salvage of waste paper from both homes and business places continued at a fast pace today as officials reported an increase over last month's record returns in household collections in South Boston and in Wards 8, 9 and 10 of Roxbury.

Paper reclaimed in these districts totaled 185,295 pounds as compared with 180,075 in April. Scrap tin returns from the same districts netted 50,600 pounds as against 46,085 last month.

Pickups are scheduled today in Wards 11 and 12 of Roxbury and Wards 13 and 14 of Dorchester. Tomorrow, salvage trucks will canvass Wards 15, 16 and 17 in Dorchester, and Ward 18, comprising Hyde Park and parts of Roslindale and Mattapan.

Meanwhile, large quantities of paper continue to pour in from the business office drive sponsored by the Advertising Club of Boston. Major contributions this week include six tons each from the Allis Chalmers Co., Hyde Park, and the S. S. Pierce Co.; two tons from the Loose Wiles Biscuit Co., and one ton from the Gillette Safety Razor Co.

A Navy wife, Mrs. Mary Grey of Orient ave., East Boston, whose husband, Lieut. George S. Grey, commands a landing boat in the Mediterranean area, was one of five $25 War Bond winners in the drawing conducted by the Boston Salvage Committee. The bond will be registered in the name of the Greys' 13-month-old daughter.

Wanted by Fleischmann!
Good Judges of Good Whiskey To Try a Great New Brand!

TASTE! BODY! AROMA! These are the three qualities of a superb whiskey—and in Fleischmann's PREFERRED you find all three! The taste is rich, delicious! The body round, and full! The aroma, delicate!

Wouldn't You Like to Serve a Whiskey that has the Full, Ripe Richness of the World's Finest, Most Limited Brands? If you would, now you can! Read why!

• This invitation is written for the few men who are really good judges of good whiskey . . . who can appreciate a whiskey that is as gloriously rich, creamy and delicious as the world's finest, most limited brands—and who do not need anything more to confirm them in their judgment.

We set out several years ago to see if we could make such a whiskey. We spared no expense. We experimented. We drew from the world's choicest reserves. For the straight whiskies in this blend, we selected the world's finest grains, backed them up with the world's most delicate skill.

The result is—Fleischmann's PREFERRED, a remarkable whiskey! Velvety! Creamy! Full! Delicious! We are sorry that we can offer Fleischmann's PREFERRED only in limited amounts as all our distilling facilities are devoted 100% to the war effort. If your dealer has Fleischmann's PREFERRED, try it! You'll be glad you did!

THE WORLD'S GREATEST "MANHATTAN"? We say so! Take 1 dash of Angostura Bitters, ¾ oz. sweet vermouth, and 1½ oz. of Fleischmann's PREFERRED! Stir with ice, strain into 4-oz. glass, add one Maraschino cherry!

FOR AN "OLD FASHIONED" that tastes like cream—to ¾ level teaspoon granulated sugar, 2 or 3 dashes of bitters in an Old Fashioned glass; add just enough water to dissolve sugar. Muddle! Add ice cubes, 1½ oz. of Fleischmann's PREFERRED. Garnish with cherry, twisted lemon peel, or orange and pineapple!

FLEISCHMANN'S
PREFERRED
BLENDED WHISKEY

The straight whiskies in this product are 4 years or more old; 35% straight whiskies, 65% neutral spirits distilled from cane products. 90 Proof.

Hard Work Now Will Save Crops

By FOSTER H. WEISS

Head of Vegetable Gardening Dept., Norfolk County Agricultural School, and Director of the Boston Record - American - Advertiser Demonstration Garden on Boston Common.

Because of the recent drouth and extreme frosts, this week is the turning point in the home food production program in Massachusetts.

Although the commercial grower will not be able to make up his big losses, the Victory gardener can make it a successful season by plenty of hard work and a little help from the weather man. A good soaking rain and warmer weather will work wonders.

Our crops in our demonstration garden are coming up well. Gardeners who have followed our schedule should also be getting some satisfaction from their early efforts. Unless the dry weather has hampered your effort all the early planted seeds should be well started now.

HOEING

As the smaller crops, such as beets and carrots, break through the ground it is necessary to hoe them carefully. This is especially true now that we have had some rain. Hoeing—will help to save moisture and break the crust that has formed.

EARLY BEETS AND SPINACH

Our first planting of beets and spinach are now up.

As soon as the young beets break through the ground it is well to hoe them carefully. Work as close to the row as possible without covering the plants. This first hoeing will give them a quick start. A little nitrate of soda applied while hoeing will help beets considerably.

Weeds should be pulled as soon as they begin to show. Do not thin beets however until they are about 4 inches high if you want good quality beet greens.

Spinach should have much the same treatment as beets. It grows fast and will also respond to a side dressing of nitrate.

Jordan's Gives Safety Awards

Forty-seven safety awards were made to Jordan Marsh Co. drivers and helpers at a dinner held in the store restaurant last night. Safety pins were distributed to the men who have compiled perfect driving records over a period of years.

Those driving six years without an accident were: M. Bates, P. Connolly, J. Coyne, F. Gillespie, J. T. Irvine, E. Kelliher, J. E. Mullally, D. J. O'Leary, T. J. Queenan, F. Scagnelli, J. Scuttellaro, F. T. Thayer, V. Young, M. Culloty, A. E. Garrity, A. F. Hingston, J. J. Kelly, R. K. Libby, L. Maguire, H. R. Miller, S. F. Sullivan, A. Thomas, V. Zagami, D. J. Quinlan, W. J. Ryan.

Those driving five years without an accident: R. Crowley, L. B. Dunkley, W. Hamilton, W. Watt, J. F. Dunne, J. P. O'Connor, P. Sweeney.

Four years without accident: A. J. Cote, E. H. Hannaford, A. Miller, A. M. Seera, H. N. Spooner, J. Lombard, P. Finnerty, A. Perry, D. Hickey, A. J. McCarthy.

Three years without accident: W. I. McGillivray, C. W. Boylan.

Two years without accident: D. Coveney, P. Duffy, K. E. Poor.

Members of the management attending were: J. H. Fairclough Jr., W. A. Everett, C. S. Thompson, R. H. Edwards, A. J. Everett, R. V. Daggett, S. A. Babcock, George Perry, Massachusetts Bonding Company, B. S. White, A. E. Finney, M. E. Dwyer, J. J. Rooney, R. Hall, R. C. Grant, H. Ferguson, E. Boleman and T. Lonergan.

Chile Warns Argentine

WASHINGTON, May 24 (INS)—The Chilean government, it was disclosed today, has warned Argentina to abandon its independent line of action and join the democratic nations of the Americas.

This was revealed by Chilean Sen. Hernan Videla, in an exclusive statement. Videla is in the United States as head of the Chilean delegation to the conference of Inter-American Development Commissions.

The Chilean move in the troublesome Argentine question came while the United States prepared to recognize Bolivia.

Exchange of views among the 18 American republics which have not recognized Bolivia was expected this week, following the return to Washington yesterday of United States Ambassador Avra Warren with a report on present conditions in the Bolivian capital.

awaiting the elegant decor planned by the good "doctor," who evidently had just moved in on the day we called.

We had been attracted by a bit of prose from the "doctor" which promised advice on all problems to the frustrated, the suffering and the low-wage earners.

This had seemed to us like a large order, even for someone with so many titles tacked to his name, so Helen Farlow and I decided to test the good "doctor's" claims.

We found him a tall, slender, silver-haired youngish man with pearl-like skin and heavy-lidded opaque eyes.

Well mannered, his voice is cultured and pitched to a low murmur. Combined with his strange, expressive eyes, it exerts a mesmeric influence as he sits at the inevitable table-for-two, holding his client's hand and discoursing on her personality.

He makes it clear upon starting each diagnosis that unless he can reach the subject's subconscious he is unable to "read" for that client at that particular time. It's the cleverest come-on yet devised. For instance, he "read" for me, but turned down Helen Farlow, stating her "vibrations" were not right that day.

COMES THE AWAKENING

As this was turning away good money we began to think that the "Doctor" might be honest enough at least to believe in his own soul the clap-trap he peddles.

Rude was our awakening!

He used the oldest dodge in the world to extract my secrets—the substitution gag, the one made famous in vaudeville houses, the trick whereby you write your inmost thoughts on a small piece of paper and the "reader" tells you what you have written without-supposedly-having looked at the paper.

First he had me write three questions on a stiff card which he had previously folded twice so it made a small square. I was to add my occupation and also a brief summation of whatever I most wished to attain.

To mislead him I wrote 'musician" beside Occupation, and the following as my ultimate wish:

"To have my work eventually bring solace to a great many people."

For the three questions I put down:

1—When will the war end?

2—Is Bill (I know no Bill) dead or alive?

3—If Bill is alive, is he a prisoner, or in hiding?

Dr. Saturn left me in solitude while I wrote the above, counselling me to let my "soul speak out."

WRITES NUMBERS

When I finished I automatically folded the card back in its original folds and left it on the table. He then gave me another card and instructed me to start writing numbers—from one to 50.

I had only reached 42 when he stopped me brusquely. Meantime, I had been watching him covertly and noted he moved some papers around.

When he finished there was a card in the same place where mine had been, but as I had taken the precaution of making a small mark in one corner, I had him—and good.

The card was not mine.

Immediately I realized that while I had been bent on my task he had effected the substitution, taken a quick glance at what I had written and now was ready to "predict."

Sure enough he started right in by telling me there was someone by the name of William I was worrying about.

"I am happy to be able to tell you that he is still alive," he continued. "He is alive and a prisoner and soon you will hear officially that this is so."

"You have very expressive hands," he rattled on, "I believe you are a musician. You will receive great recognition for your work and you will bring joy to many people."

Then came his daffiest advice.

"You must learn to cultivate what may seem to you despicable traits. For instance, you often think that a certain hat looks good on Mary and a stylish dress beautiful on Jane. Now you must be more vain, instead of thinking these things you must convince yourself that same hat or dress would look much more beautiful on you."

There was a good deal more, but mostly vague admonitions, ending with the reminder that the non-existent William was very much alive.

DODGES QUESTION

Tactfully I reminded him that my first question: When will the war end? still remained unanswered. Evidently I had touched a sore spot. He winced and answered gruffly:

"We—in the occult sciences—are not allowed to discuss the war with our clients," he said, loftily adding some mumbo-jumbo to give the impression he had been asked not to do so by "high authorities."

"It disturbs people," he added haughtily. "We know what is going to happen, but we can not tell you."

Then he turned down Helen Farlow with these gentle generalities:

"My dear, I can not read for you today. You are too unquiet. Each five to seven years we all change our planets. You are undergoing such a change at this time. It will be completed in a month. I want you . . . urge you . . . to come back then. We will have a long heart-to-heart talk. Come some day when you feel utterly relaxed. When you have nothing on your mind more important than your communion with me. And please come alone . . . the presence of another is apt to disturb your vibrations.

"You are very psychic . . . I want you to enter one of my classes as soon as they begin. I'm sure you will be one of my most talented pupils. You have a great psychic gift . . . you must allow me to develop it."

And that is how the big-leaguers in this rotten racket hook the customers in for a repeat performance.

Back Bay clairvoyant in to-a-nce.

Huge Stork Shower

THE INFANT EXPECTED in early summer at the Alfred Meyer, Jr., household will be liberally supplied with all sorts of cute bonnets, bootees, dresses and other baby paraphernalia as a result of the stork shower Mrs. Warren Dellenbaugh (Mary Greenwood) gave for Dorothy Meyer the other evening.

In order not to show any partiality between a boy or a girl, Mary had the buffet table decorated with two cakes—one frosted with pink rosebuds and the other blue. All the gifts were piled into a dainty bassinet.

Helping to make the party such a success were Dorothy's sister-in-law, Mrs. Russell Fry, Jr., Janet Greenwood, Mrs. Robert Lee Walters, Adele Dellenbaugh, Nancy Cheyne, Mrs. James Girdwood, Mrs. Edwin Holmes, 3rd, and Lee Withington who is in the midst of plans for a June wedding.

NOTES FROM A SOCIETY EDITOR'S CUFF—Before moving to the South Shore for the summer, Mr. and Mrs. Henry S. Middendorf are making the most of the beautiful grounds surrounding their Chestnut Hill home by having a series of Sunday picnic luncheons and tennis parties. The neighbors drive over on their bikes. Recently Harry and Frances had Harvard's 1914 crew (of which Harry and Gov. Saltonstall were members) for cocktails to celebrate the 30th anniversary of the crew's victory the year they rowed the Henley regatta in England.

Celebrating Radcliffe Night at the Pops tonight, a group of undergraduates will sell posies to benefit the scholarship fund. The flower girls are Elizabeth Chafee, Suzanne Hagler, Cynthia Bishop, Joan Lund, Cynthia Hughes, Betty Prescott, Elizabeth Weichel, Catherine Maguire and Katherine Bozorth.

Glimpsed at the Junior League's annual luncheon — Mrs. Edward Grew, Jr. and Mrs. Edward Bond giving a lift to Mrs. Lyon Weyburn, president of the Garden Club, in arranging cheerful table decorations to offset the dreary day. The Weyburns are already week-ending at their place in Prides Crossing and getting the gardens well under way.

Patty Spencer and Debbie Sprague Hoffman (Mrs. Norman), the new president and v.p., receiving congratulations on all sides—Patty in a nifty black faille fitted suit and Debbie setting off her red hair with a blue linen piped and monogrammed in chartreuse.

Mrs. Robert Kelsey lunched with Mrs. C. Campbell Patterson, Jr., who is resigning as publicity chairman of the Garden Club Federation and being succeeded by Mrs. Robert Bowen of Concord. Mrs. Henry McBurney Parker and Mrs. George Bemis came together and Mrs. C. Chauncey Gray wore a sporty Glen Plaid suit and a unique jewelled ice man (you guessed it—a diamond represented the ice) on her black beanie.

For a Better America

DEAN HOWARD MUMFORD JONES, distinguished Harvard University scholar, wants colleges to produce more real Americans and fewer synthetic Europeans.

In a recently published book titled "Ideas in America," Dean Jones says:

"If we are really interested in educating American citizens for an intelligent participation in American life, I suggest that the colleges might seek out ways and means of bringing before their students a far richer and more comprehensive knowledge of the American heritage, not only in the field of economic existence but in those areas we vaguely call culture.

"Our colleges seek too often to produce imitation Europeans, and imitation Europeans are always inferior to the genuine article. We try to bring America to Greece or Rome, Italy or France, instead of discovering what it is that Greece, Rome, France and Italy have to bring to America."

Dean Jones is 100 per cent right in these statements. The country which has twice saved the worn and decrepit nations of Europe does not have to look to them for guidance at any time.

We can afford to be our own healthy selves, and we most assuredly ought to try doing it.

More Waste Paper Needed

BOSTON residents have supported the waste paper salvage campaign in a truly commendable manner.

In most wards, collections have exceeded official expectations and many areas have more than doubled their quotas.

Thus, essential industries have received a sufficient supply of paper to continue their operations; food and equipment have gone to the fighting forces without delay, and a serious impairment of the war effort has been avoided.

But we cannot afford to rest on our well-earned laurels. What we have done we must repeat again and again as long as the war lasts.

Fortunately, paper is a constantly accumulating commodity in most homes and business establishments.

Swing Here to Stay?

SWING-WEARY Americans who have been hoping that the future would produce something less vigorous in the way of music cannot be too optimistic.

According to Harry James, the popular bandleader, "swing is just as popular as ever."

Moreover, opines Mr. James, "the Army bands are as good as any commercial outfit and when those boys get out of uniform the caliber of music will be terrific."

But we still have a rather strong suspicion that the lads who fought in Italy and the South Pacific and saw this war at its worst are going to surprise Mr. James and others by showing a decided preference for ballads and restful tunes, refreshingly flavored with the sentiment returning warriors have always craved.

Our Farmers Fare Poorly

"MASSACHUSETTS farmers are standing solidly on their own feet," says Howard S. Russell of the Farm Bureau Federation.

By this, Mr. Russell means that Bay State agriculture has received practically no assistance from the federal government's extremely expensive conservation and parity programs.

Actually, 12,000 Massachusetts farmers obtained less than $40 each and 4600 others less than $20.

An ability to stand on one's own feet is always conducive to self-satisfaction, particularly in New England communities where the old virtues of thrift and enterprise are still very much alive.

Washington Scene . . By George Dixon

(Distributed by King Features Synd., Inc. Reproduction in whole or in part strictly prohibited.)

WASHINGTON, May 24—I feel considerably better, if not downright smug, this morning because I have just made a great discovery. I do not expect to get a Nobel prize for this or even have it immortalized in a movie titled "Dr. Dixon's Great Discovery" but I think I should at least get deluged with praise from Washington's civic organizations.

The discovery I have made is that disjointed thinking is not exclusively confined to the nation's capital.

It came to me in practically a blinding flash during an extended weekend away from this citadel of government. I might add that I was more or less in this blinding flash throughout the weekend, but the chances are I should have made the discovery anyway.

I attended an editorial conference on Shelter Island, which is out off the end of Long Island. The conference got under way aboard a small fishing boat, which smelled agreeably of fish and old editorials.

Mr. Caswell Adams, the noted sports authority, began the discussion which was to lead to my great discovery. Mr. Adams, a distinct outdoor type, had just hooked the skipper of the boat and was madly reeling him in, when a wave slapped us.

MR. ADAMS sat down on a beautifully-prepared lunch. Instead of getting up, however, he looked around at sky and water and demanded:

"All right! Tell me—who can lick him?"

"Who can lick who?" asked the skipper—"and please stop reeling for a minute. The netting of my pants will not be counted in the pool for high hook."

"Who can lick Roosevelt?" said Mr. Adams. "Go on, tell me—who can lick him?"

"I have been fishing here for 30 years," said the skipper, "and I don't think I ever saw a better run of weakfish. This is the best run of weakfish I ever remember in Peconic Bay. But the price is away down. All we get is four cents a pound at the dock. This time last year we were getting 16 cents."

"There you are," said Mr. Adams triumphantly. "How are you going to lick a man like that?"

A man named Kelly, who seemed to have the eccentric notion that he had come along to fish, demanded to know what F. D. R.'s fourth term chances had to do with the price of fish.

"Why," said Mr. Adams, "Mr. Roosevelt brought down the price of fish as an election measure. Everybody who eats fish now will undoubtedly vote for Roosevelt."

Mr. Louis Biederman, the famous artist, grunted and said that Shelter Island was a very comfortable place to live.

"It is even better in the winter," he said. "We put on the storm doors and windows and we are very snug. The snow may be howling outside but we are very snug."

"Don't you think Roosevelt knows that?" said Mr. Adams. "You see how he works it. All the snug people will vote for him."

"It is my considered opinion, Mr. Adams, that you are nuts!" said a man named Connolly. "Louie here was just as snug under Hoover, and even Coolidge."

Mr. Adams refused to be stumped.

"But neither Mr. Hoover nor Mr. Coolidge is running," he exulted. "So how can you lick him—Roosevelt, I mean?"

A YOUNG LADY who kept insisting on telling a long story about her grandfather and his silk hat cut in.

"Down in Baltimore they say he can be licked," she said. "They tell me there are getting to be ever so many Republicans. Tell me this—is it unpatriotic to have Republicans while the country is at war?"

"There is some talk about that down in Washington," I said. "But I understand there are wilful people who are turning Republican right and left despite everything Elmer Davis can do to reason with them."

"There you are!" said Mr. Adams. "I said he couldn't be licked, didn't I? Tell me this—go on, tell me—how many Republicans are there?"

"There must be dozens," said Mr. Biederman. "Do you know squid is very good bait for weakfish. Weakfish love squid. I don't like squid much myself, although some of the people here like it."

"If you don't watch," said the skipper, "a squid will spit on you. It is full of black stuff, like ink. It is no fun to be spit on by a squid."

"Why don't they teach them better manners?" said the young lady from Baltimore. "I have always said that I consider spitting horrid."

"Furthermore, I will bet you," said Mr. Adams, "that if Roosevelt is beaten it will only be by a Republican. It will take a Republican to do it, mark my words."

"Very interesting," said the man named Connolly. "You're sure it can't be done by a squid?"

Mr. Adams has a cold, logical mind. He has had it for years, and can't get it thawed out.

"No squid would stand a chance against Roosevelt," he said. "Besides, it doesn't have enough ink in it to write all the Presidential directives that are necessary. All the squids in Peconic haven't enough ink to write as many directives as Mr. Roosevelt."

"I think Mr. Roosevelt will be beaten," said the skipper. "People around here say he will be a cinch to lick this time. And, if you will reel in, I think you will find a fish on your line. The rod is not jumping up and down like that just because it is manipulated by the New Deal."

So for the mother's sake the child was dear,
And dearer was the mother for the child!

—COLERIDGE.

A PARATROOPER with our forces overseas has asked for a short poem to send to his wife on the occasion of a shortly expected blessed event. The above is an excerpt from a poem titled "To a Friend Who Asked Me How I Felt When the Nurse First Presented My Infant to Me" . . . Why hasn't some provision been made for the dogs of New York City? Things have come to a pretty pass when a New Yorker can't take his dog for a walk in the park. There are bridle paths for horses in Central Park. How about a path where people can walk their dogs? Let Mayor La Guardia answer that on one of his radio programs. Speaking of dogs, what would O. O. McIntyre have done if dog-walking had been restricted in New York in his day as it is now? Why, sir, he would have moved to Chicago and changed the title of his column to "Chicago Day by Day." For which I wouldn't have blamed him.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS: Q—Where can I find the poem "How Do I Love Thee? Let Me Count the Ways" quoted in the film "The Purple Heart?" A—Several hundred subscribers have asked this question. It is from Elizabeth Barrett Browning's "Sonnets from the Portuguese." Title of these sonnets was inspired by the fact Robert Browning had a habit of calling the author "My Little Portuguese" because of her olive skin . . . Q—What do you think of the Bible in modern speech? A—I like the Bible in the older form . . . Q—How do you like your fried eggs? A—Sunny side up. Not too soft . . . Q—Do you still claim the camera favors the outside horse? A—I claimed some systems of photographing finishes favored the outside horse. Evidently, some major race tracks thought so, too, as they have changed to that system which is accurate and favors no horse.

"Officer of the day? Sentinel number five says he better be put on some other post before his morale is all shot!"

BRIEFLY: The first golf club in the United States was the St. Andrews Club of Yonkers, N. Y. John Reid, a native of Dunfermline, Scotland, founded it in 1888. I like what it says about Reid on a memorial tablet in the clubhouse. "He was a lover of men, of sports: A loyal friend and a rare interpreter of the songs of his native land" . . . The latest statistics reveal the average wage of skilled workers in British industrial plants is six pounds, the equivalent of about $24 a week . . . Californian says at the age of 46 his mother gave birth to twins. If that isn't the record for age of mother at time of a double feature blessed event, what is?

WOMEN, ETC.: Questioning of a number of persons who rent furnished rooms reveals the majority prefer men roomers. The landladies say male lodgers are neater and less trouble. Seems female lodgers are given to squawking about many minor details. They do washing and cooking in their rooms. They burn holes in the rugs and furniture with carelessly tossed about cigarettes.

Hollywood Today

By Louella O. Parsons

HOLLYWOOD, May 24—Make room for another sister act in the movies. Marion Hutton, blonde singing sister of the bombastic Betty, has signed with Universal for two or three pictures a year for the next seven years.

Her first will be the femme lead in "Abbott and Costello in Society." The life stories of these two girl singers are much more dramatic than any mere movie.

When they were kids the two little towheads used to stand on street corners and sing for the pennies, nickels and dimes the Detroit auto workers tossed at them. Their mother, a widow, worked in one of the factories and the youngsters wanted to help out. When they were old enough, both started working with bands. Marion is "quieter" than Betty and she's happily married and the mother of a little boy.

BY FAR THE MOST interesting new actor in Hollywood is Gregory Peck. He is wanted for every big role in town, and that's no exaggeration. Not since Maj. Clark Gable flashed across the horizon has there been an actor as much in demand. I heard today that it is set for Peck to play the fascinating Nicholas in "Dragonwyck," the husband who murdered his first wife. He will play opposite Gene Tierney, who has the role of Miranda, the girl with whom Nicholas falls in love and then poisons his wife. There is some talk that he won't be as much of a villain as in the book, although Charles Boyer did all right for himself in "Gaslight."

RITA HAYWORTH won't be making a picture for at least a year, or longer, so I am wondering if the investment of $25,000 Columbia made in "Dream With Music" isn't a bit of a headache. It was bought with Rita in mind. On the New York stage it isn't expected to last much longer than a real dream, but very often plays Broadway audiences refuse to accept make good pictures. Possibly Columbia just had an option on it. I haven't been able to find out whether it was an option or it was bought outright. At any rate, Rita won't be doing it for a long time. Not until a year from now, for her baby is due in the late winter.

CHATTER IN HOLLYWOOD: Billy Grady, almost as well known on the M-G-M lot as Leo the Lion, is writing a book. After 13 years signing players, casting pictures and looking at talent, he is certainly qualified to tell his experiences. He is calling his book "And Then There Was the Time," recalling the first time he met Garbo; when he first saw Louis B. Mayer; the first time he met Shearer and Crawford and all the gals on this lot, which, incidentally, is celebrating its 20th anniversary this summer.

SPYROS SKOURAS is home from London and, from all I hear from my New York source, his trip was a success, which probably means the Arthur Rank deal was put over. Spyros got home in time to give his daughter, Diana, away. She marries Dr. George Fowler, of Pelham, in June. This is quite a romance with Diana and the doctor. She was very ill and he was her doctor and it was a case of patient and physician falling for each other.

WANDA TUCHOCK'S script on the sentimental "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier" is so good 20th has handed her a long term writing contract. Miss Tuchock was going great guns several years ago turning out movies such as "Hallelujah," "The Champ," "Letty Lynton" and "O'Shaughnessey's Boy." Then, at the peak of her assignments, she decided to take a long vacation and hied to her farm in Sunland.

SNAPSHOTS OF HOLLYWOOD COLLECTED AT RANDOM: Belle Baker has a hot and heavy romance in San Francisco: Lana Turner showed up at the Russell Birdwell cocktail party with Peter Lawford, and George Brent was there with his new girl friend, pretty little June Millard: Jose Iturbi played boogie woogie and Judy Garland sang it, just to make the boys at Hollywood Canteen happy Sunday night: Mary Benny is getting ready to say au revoir to Jack again. He leaves for overseas to entertain the boys very soon; what goes on with Kathryn Grayson and her estranged husband, John? They were together at Las Vegas at "The Last Frontier" when Kathryn judged the El Dorado beauty contest; Bob Preston writes to his wife, Catherine Craig, that they showed "Union Pacific," one of his pictures, on the troop ship; Chelios, who is one of Hollywood's most popular human beings, has been ordered on a six months' leave from his duties as maitre d' hotel of the Brown Derby; Ottilie Kruger, Otto's debutante daughter, will go into summer stock in June as soon as she finishes school; "Little Bit" Morrison, ex-wife of Leo Morrison, is opening a shop in Mexico City; A. C. Blumenthal, known in theatrical circles as "Blumey," arrives here from Mexico in 60 days. He hasn't been home for three years; Bill Eythe, thrown through a windshield of a car on location for "Sunday Dinner for a Soldier," is headed for home from Florida; Lillian Gish told Amos and Andy their theme song, called "The Perfect Song," was used as orchestral music in "The Birth of a Nation," and she ought to know. That's all today. See you tomorrow!

"Well, so long, Honey. I'll have to be going . . .!"

Sensational Farce Due At Loew's State, Orpheum

"Up in Mabel's Room," sensational French farce of another generation, has been revived, streamlined and produced by Edward Small with Dennis O'Keefe, Marjorie Reynolds, Lee Bowman and Gail Patrick. You'll be seeing it tomorrow on Loew's State and Orpheum screens.

The comedy revolves around the trials of a young groom trying to hide his past indiscretions from his new wife. The major blot on his past is a flimsy slip which he had bestowed on a young lady, the

DENNIS O'KEEFE AND MARJORIE REYNOLDS

Mabel in question, in a moment of ardor. His attempts to get back the slip, with the aid of his Russian butler, form the basis of the film.

Mischa Auer is cast as the Russian butler. Others supporting players are Charlotte Greenwood, Binnie Barnes, John Hubbard and Janet Lambert.

The co-feature will be "Jam Session," starring Ann Miller.

Ballet Stars Sign For Rose Musical

Alicia Markova and Anton Dolin, Ballet Theater stars now appearing at New York's Metropolitan, have signed contracts with Billy Rose and will appear in his projected muscial, "Seven Lively Arts."

Danny Kaye Moves Into Normandie

Samuel Goldwyn's "Up In Arms," starring Danny Kaye, moves into the Normandie today. The Technicolor comedy, which features Dinah Shore, Dana Andrews, Constance Dowling and the gorgeous Goldwyn girls, thus goes into its fifth week locally.

Bernadette Still Popular

"The Song of Bernadette," now in its fourth week at the Majestic Theater, continues to attract capacity crowds through the wide appeal of its simple story. Winner of five Academy Awards, including "Best Actress of the Year" to Jennifer Jones who plays the title role, the picture follows faithfully the novel by Franz Werfel

Disney's 'Snow White' Here at Uptown

Walt Disney's delightful box office smash-hit, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs," is to be seen on the Uptown screen tomorrow. The companion attraction, "The Bridge of San Luis Rey," co-stars Francis Lederer and Lynn Bari.

'Stovepipe Hat' Askew In Shubert Premiere

By PEGGY DOYLE

"Stovepipe Hat," which swansongs Boston's musical comedy season, was discovered last night to Shubert firstnighters as no fit for the Lincoln legend.

Programmed as a legend with music, "Stovepipe Hat" self-consciously shadowboxes with events that shaped Lincoln into greatness, persistently teases with the idea but never actually brings the chief protagonist on stage.

Attempting to telescope the life and times of the Great Emancipator, the Carl E. Ring production evolves as the merest stringing along of episodes that no more hang together than so many blackouts in so many long-agone "Follies" shows.

The simplicity and the heart that were the essence of Abraham Lincoln are missing in this hard-to-follow detour back to the 1860's. Rather it is arty and shallow story-telling that misses the forest for the trees and had no more business on the Shubert stage last night than did your play reporter.

On the lonely credit side of this morning's accounting Duval Springman looms large. He is robustious vocally and physically, being possessed of one of the finest voices that ever shivered the Shubert rafters as well as of a magnetic stage presence.

Bob Kennedy, who alternated with Alfred Drake in "Oklahoma," is another ace as a singing actor. Talent scouts form to the right. Ann Warren, who stepped into a leading role vacated by Mary Roche and with the briefest of rehearsals, is pleasing to eye and ear alike. Ruth White, as Mary Todd Lincoln, scores in a brief but potent tilt with a Presidential belitter with a Southern accent.

At this writing, it seems unlikely that anything can be done about the headsize of "Stovepipe Hat." It is largely a matter of co-authors Walter Hannan, Edward Hayman and Harold Spina enlarging their concept to meet the demands of a subject that is now beyond the scope of their current typewriting.

Crew Picks Fields As Their Pin-Up Man

W. C. Fields, hardly the bathing-suit type, has received notification of his choice as pin-up man of Sub Chaser 1360, now in action against the enemy. Fields, one of the stars of Andrew Stone's "Sensations of 1945," was informed of the honor in a letter from Ensign Herbert S. Howes, commanding officer, who writes that a large picture of the bulbnosed comedian adorns the bulkheads of the ship

GUY LOMBARDO will bring his Royal Canadians to the RKO-Boston stage tomorrow with his superior brand of sweet music and rhythm tempos. The film attraction will be "Ladies Courageous."

'3 Is a Family' Plans For Matinee Tuesday

"3 Is a Family," currently winning friends and influencing people to laugh uproariously at the Colonial, will give a Decoration Day matinee next Tuesday. Tickets are now on sale for this matinee of the John Golden comedy, whose departure for Philadelphia has been postponed because of local capacity business. Incidentally, Margaret Irving has been signed by the Golden office for a featured role in the forthcoming Arthur Kober comedy.

Throats Have Spotlight

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

THROATS HAVE THE SPOTLIGHT . . . and WHAT attention they're going to command . . . come the warm-weather days of bare-looking fashions. If you've tucked away in the secret recesses of your mind the desire to banish throat scrawniness . . . and achieve graciously-throated beauty . . . now is the time to practice those promises about having beauty for keeps.

Don't let the weather fool you. You may still be buttoning up your overcoat . . . what with the tricky cool dampness of May fickleness . . . but the time will suddenly burst like an exploding bombshell when your throat will be bare . . . and you'll be complaining about the heat . . . and then, what?

A poised, swan-like throat is the connecting beauty link between your face and your figure . . . and woe be unto this focal beauty spot if you just dilly-daily . . . while flabbiness sets in . . . because oil glands are less numerous and more active in the skin of your throat. You'll be a sorry miss later on . . . if you don't make hay now even though the sun doesn't shine.

If you are one of the many women who have shoved aside repeated warnings about the devastation of a creepy throat . . . totally forgetting the necessity of giving your facial stem daily care to keep it young and firm . . . just wait until you see the first lines faintly pushing their way to your throat surface.

THROAT NEEDS COSMETICS

Your throat needs as much cosmetic nourishment as your face . . . particularly a special herbal throat and neck blend . . . which promises firming as well as beneficial goodness . . . to tighten and strengthen the throat muscles and tissues . . . keeping the skin smooth as a kid glove. It also offers a stimulating and lubricating treatment . . . which not only will help to correct sagging muscles . . . but act on the condition of the throat lines themselves.

Don't perch a lovely face on a flaccid, tired stem . . . when you can do SO much to relieve this unattractiveness . . . and be prepared to bare a truly lovely throat for the bare-look frocks and beach garb you'll be so anxious to look your best in this summer.

Develop a long, graceful sweep from the chin over your throat . . . which doubtless you know is most essential to any gal's good looks.

For the name of this bracing herbal blend for throat and neck, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4000, or write me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

A ROSE IS AS GRACEFUL AS ITS BEAUTIFUL STEM . . . and by the same token a woman's facial loveliness hinges on the firm, rounded line of a swan-like throat . . . young and lineless . . . firm and elegantly poised. A bracing herbal throat and neck blend will tighten and strengthen throat muscles . . . to help you achieve throat loveliness comparable to that of Paramount Star Belita.

Breakfast Treats

By MARTHA LEE

IT IS SAID that one of the weakest points in our home food program is breakfast. After all, it is this meal that sends you forth to meet the countless problems of the day, and if it isn't well planned there just isn't sufficient reserve energy and vitality to meet them.

Fruit is, of course, a good starter, and fruit in liquid form has become increasingly popular at this meal. Chilled apricot whole fruit nectar accented with a sprinkling of lemon juice is eagerly received. Orange juice and grapefruit juice, too, are among the leaders in the parade of popular breakfast fruits.

Next should come cereal, and too often it is omitted. Cereal is good food, too good to omit. Rich in food energy, minerals and vitamins it supplies good background for the many trying situations that arise during the morning's work.

If cereal is not popular in your family, try serving slices of cling peaches over it. The bright, golden fruit gives a cheerful appearance and certainly makes the cereal appear as tempting as it is delicious to taste. The combination is an exceptionally good one.

Another way to incorporate cereal painlessly in the morning meal is to use it in hot breads, pancakes and waffles, in crispy baked eggs, etc. Fried cereal is also an excellent main dish—served with or without bacon and syrup.

MOLASSES BRAN MUFFINS

2 cups all-bran cereal
1½ cups milk 1 egg
1 cup flour ½ tsp. salt
½ cup molasses 1 tsp. soda

Add all-bran to molasses and milk and allow to soak for 15 minutes. Beat egg and add to first mixture. Sift flour, salt and soda together and combine with all-bran mixture. Fill greased muffin pans 2-3 full and bake in moderately hot oven (400 deg. F.) about 20 minutes. Makes 1 dozen muffins (2½ inches in diameter).

CORNMEAL GRIDDLECAKES

1¼ cups sifted flour
¾ cup cornmeal
3 tsp. baking powder 1 tsp. salt
1 tbsp. dark molasses
1 or 2 eggs, well beaten
1½ cups milk (scant)
2 tbsp. shortening, melted

Mix and sift dry ingredients. Combine egg, milk and molasses; add flour and beat until smooth; add shortening. Bake slowly on greased, hot griddle. Makes about 2 dozen griddle cakes.

WAFFLES SUPREME

2 eggs separated 1½ cups milk
½ cup all-bran 1½ cups flour
4 tsp. baking powder
1 tsp. salt 2 tbsp. sugar
½ cup melted shortening

Beat egg yolks well; add milk and all-bran; let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with baking powder, salt and sugar; add to liquid mixture and stir only until flour disappears. Add melted and cooled shortening. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake on hot waffle iron until no steam is visible. Makes 7 waffles (6½ inches in diameter).

CRISPY BAKED EGGS

Pour 1 tablespoon melted bacon fat over 2 cups cereal flakes and toss lightly. Arrange flakes to form nests in sections of greased muffin pan. Break 6 eggs, slipping one into each nest. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Bake in slow oven (325 deg. F.) 20 minutes, or until firm. Makes 6 servings.

Good Clothes? Good Manners?

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Tuesday—I had no intention in my column published Monday the 22nd of stating that men were suddenly giving up their vote this year, but in some way the word "many" was left out of the copy. What I meant to say, of course, was that "many men" this year, because of war conditions, are not going to be able to vote. This includes men whose work has taken them to new places and who cannot qualify for either absentee ballots in the old place of residence or under the rules in their new place of residence. Secondly, many men at the front will not be able to comply with state regulations and get their ballots in on time.

SPENDING SO MANY hours on trains gives me a chance to do considerable reading. If you want to spend an amusing half hour, I suggest you read a little book called: "While Father Is Away." The child will give you many smiles, even if a tear may be rather close now and then.

On Monday in New York city, I went to the lunch for the American Women's Voluntary Services, at which they launched their nation-wide campaign for clothes conservation. The mayor of New York city and the Secretary of the Navy, Mr. Forrestal, spoke extremely well.

PERHAPS THE GREATEST interest centered in the fashion show put on by Mrs. June Hamilton Rhodes. A charming looking woman in an AWVS uniform walked out first for inspection, carrying a large, blown up photograph of the garment as it originally looked when it came into the shop.

The most charming groups, of course, were the little children who acted as models in a most professional manner, and seemed not at all disturbed by photographers' bulbs flashing and people applauding as they walked the length of the built-up platform.

Send Flowers

DEAR MRS. BEECKMAN: To settle a discussion, will you please answer this question: Is it proper for a young lady to send flowers to a man who is ill, either at home or in a hospital? H. G.

Yes. Why not? Flowers from a woman to a man who is ill are a kind and thoughtful way of saying to him, "I'm sorry you are ill, and I hope these flowers will bring cheer to you, and my friendly wishes for a quick recovery." Sick people need and welcome friendly gestures of this kind, and this gesture from a woman to a man friend who is ill is no more to be misconstrued that if the occasion were reversed.

Your Response

You may be particularly "pleased to meet" that soldier or sailor who is being introduced to you. But as you acknowledge the introduction, don't say this phrase which is incorrect to acknowledge any introduction. Say "How do you do," the always-proper words to use when you acknowledge an introduction. You'll want to make the first words you say make a perfect first impression. —MRS. BEECKMAN.

The Correct Thing

By ELINOR AMES

PERSONAL QUESTIONS TABOO! Don't ask the price of any article belonging to another. (It's just as bad form to "fish" for information as to bluntly ask questions.) Such "leading questions" as "Was it expensive? Where did he buy it? Is it sterling?" etc., are a form of prying to be avoided.

Sheer Dresses Popular

By BETTINA BEDWELL

THERE are plenty of dresses around that are made of sheer, filmy stuff, and they are slated to have a big success at Summer parties.

There are also dresses of solid crepe, but trimmed with sheer, which are quite as enchanting and a lot more useful.

Such models are going to be nice for the informal bride, who wants to look her loveliest but has to think about tomorrow, too. The dress in our sketch is one such, and it is a beauty.

From Villa Zigmund, this model is made of delicate sea foam green crepe, and bands of sheer georgette-like crepe are set in to make a yoke and bands on the blouse and the short sleeves. Such a dress with a veiled headdress and long gloves would be very nice for the furlough bride to wear.

READING OF WEEK: "Economic Control of the Motion Picture Industry," by Mae D. Huettig, and don't let the title scare you. It is a book filled with interesting facts and figures, for as the author says, little is known of the economics of the industry itself. "Despite the glamour of Hollywood, the crux of the motion picture industry is the theater. It is in the brick-and-mortar branch of the industry that most of the money is invested and made . . . Emphasis on the economic role of the theater is not meant to belittle the film itself. Obviously it is the film which draws people to the theater.

"Movie-makers, like artists in other fields, are generally inclined to experiment with new techniques and are not above wanting to interpret or affect their surroundings. Exhibitors, on the other hand, may not know much about the art of the film, but they know what has been good box office before. Consequently, theirs is the conservative influence; they are the traditionalists of the trade."

Boston After Dark

THE RIB-ARTISTS AMONG the night-lifers matched Kid (The Great) Zissel with Kid Parker to enliven the Mayfair's latest Guest Night . . . Kid Parker is the claimant to Sinatra's crown in the Swoon Stakes, and Kid Zissel has been led to believe—for the time being—that he can outgroan Bing Crosby . . . Kid Parker will tell any listener that he has turned down $5000 a week in Hollywood . . . He sang at the Mayfair under the impression that he was part of a coast-to-coast hookup.

★ ★ ★

KID ZISSEL topped Kid Parker's imaginary offer of $25,000 by claiming, in the Parker presence, that he has turned down $50,000 . . . The two nearly came to blows . . . But news that Kid Parker has offered $500 in cash to the night clerk of his hotel, who has been acting as his "manager," for release from his "contract," it seems time to let the usurper to Sinatra's title relapse into his normal activities . . . These activities do not include a concession for haunting Station 4 and the right side of Warren-ton st., going west.

★ ★ ★

THE UNIQUE SLANT on Kid Parker's comet-like swoop across Boston-under-the-moon, during which he has thrice been the star of consecutive "celebrity nights," is this: The Parker technique in delivering a song is as professional as any director, Hollywood or Broadway, could demand . . . His gestures are professional, his facial convolutions are not overdone, and he "registers" like a veteran . . . He also has rhythm and good phrasing . . . In fact, he has everything except a voice and—oh, well—let's call it a leading-man personality.

MORE THAN the passage of time is necessary to kill off a good commercial song-idea . . . For instance, in a revue called "Odds and Ends of 1917," which featured Jack Norworth and Nora Bayes, there was a hit song called "Fancy You Fancying Me!" . . . High on the hit parade in this May of 1944 is a song called "Imagine You Imagineing You Love Me!" . . . Capt. Edward Hyland, the popular four-striper in charge of the First Naval District's dental staff, was guest at a reception at the Officers' Club in the Navy Yard . . . Lieut. Edward Gilligan, USNR, of Medford, arranged the party which won unanimous attendance from the dentists of this district who are wearing gold braid.

NOW THAT THE HEADLINES have shown up young Jockey (apprentice) Scawthorne of Pawtucket to be the crack rider a few turf experts have known him to be, watch the fans follow the sensational kid from Rhode Island . . . Five winners out of five, including a couple of 9-1 shots, is an all-time record in New England . . . Jockey Walter Turnbull turned in five victories at Rockingham twice, but he had other mounts . . . Not since Earl Porter and Jackie Westrope staged a thrilling duel for riding honors in the first season of Rockingham have two evenly-matched jockeys competed locally . . . If Apprentice Bobby Permane could be lured to Suffolk Downs, and if young Scawthorne continues to get "live" mounts (and this seems now a certainty) the race-track fans would be treated to a competition that might rival the historic Porter-Westrope competition . . . A Scawthorne-Permane contest would have tremendous local interest . . . Young Permane is also a "local" boy, hailing from Milford.

PRETENDING to relish it, Irving Shapiro, the hat-check concessionaire, stolidly gulped down the concoction of eggnog, brandy and vanilla ice which Columnist George W. Clarke unsuccessfully has tried to foist on friends and readers . . . A brandy eggnog with ice cream is palatable and, under some circumstances, quite delicious . . . But the logical and epicurean way to fashion the drink is by using coffee ice cream . . . One in a warm day, this drink is something . . . But we do not wish its acceptance to be limited to a few sycophants . . . The imbibing adult public is offered the suggestion . . . in lieu of breakfast, after a difficult night before, it is soothing and lifting and tasty . . . There is a catch, of course . . .

Bettors Bewildered At Mutuel Windows

By AUSTEN LAKE

Homo Sapiens—My acquaintances among the men who sell colored race coupons in the mutuel windows at Suffolk have added to my study of human habits. Many people ask, yes, demand, that the ticket sellers punch out a ticket at random, although the venders seldom know the names or records of the horses in any race. Hundreds of others, after buying a ticket change their minds and scuttle back to exchange it, although the venders cannot oblige. Frequently a customer will buy tickets on every horse in a race. And at least 20 per cent switch from the horse of their own choosing and copy the selection of the person just ahead of them, on the theory that the other fellow must know more than they. He couldn't know less. Quaint aint's?

Lt.-Col. Brown

Impulse—Sitting beside Lieut.-Col. Walter Brown and looking down at the Red Sox emerald across the astute PRO mused, "I never see grass like that but I have an urge to take off my shoes and run across it barefoot." Every normal adult has a foible. Personally I've always wanted to toss an egg into the whirling blades of an electric fan . . .

CONSOLATION — A rotogravure section carries the photo of Charles Grimm, recently restored manager of the Chicago Cubs and a charming female creature in white organdies—his daughter, Mae Gene Grimm. Mae is now nearing the full blossom of womanhood, but short years ago she was a perky little lass of grade school age. I was sitting with Grimm the night that his Cubs lost the deciding World Series game to Detroit.

Charley was about to squeeze through the celebrating Detroit mobs and grab a taxi for his train when the phone rang and the piping trebel of Mae Gene admonished, "Don't cry, daddy." The leather skinned manager who, under his hard shell is one of sport's pleasantest people, admitted afterward that the little girl's comfort had brought him nearest to tears in his buckaroo career.

Some Girl, This Babe

FEMALE OF THE SPECIES—News from the Pacific Coast shows that Babe Didrickson is whipping the nation's best lady golfers in open tournaments. Coast sport writers call her, curiously, "the skirted wizard," although the feminine version of wizard is witch. Thus America's most versatile lady athlete has arrived at the pinnacle of ambition.

Babe could throw a javelin, run hurdles, high jump and play basketball better than any of her sex. And she was a very fair baseball pitcher who used to peddle her services to major league teams in Florida exhibition games.

And once in a boxing exhibition with the late Willie Stribling, staged as a publicity gag, she took careful aim between Willie's ears and fetched him a right hand lick that drew a spurt of crimson from his nose. Last memory the writer has of the Babe was when she came to Boston as a $200-a-week pitcher with the House of David team. And in her Texas lisp she said, "A gurul caint get nowars in baseball. Ahm aimin' to get into gawlf. In a coupla yeahs ah'll be the bes' dinged woman gawlfuh in th' wurl'." She is only a medium sized girl, but if her spirit and fire had come packed in a masculine frame she'd have been one of the world's ace athletes. As it is she has never had to make concessions to the gents and can lick most of 'em at any game of their choosing . . .

CAUTION—No group of men on reaching the age of 45 are so loath to recognize the first twinges of middle age as old athletes who like to fancy themselves the same imperishable huskies as when they toted a football for old Rumpsteak U., or hawled a hoe handle for Subway Tech's crew.

To such men a Boston doctor offers the following advice: (1) Don't try to beat your youngsters at strenuous games. Ultimately they'll lick you anyhow. (2) Never go swimming with the slightest headcold and manage to walk several miles each day. (3) Play golf on an empty stomach. Never drink quantities of liquid before eating. (4) Coddle your blood vessels because, more than firm muscles, it is a man's veins and arteries that determine his condition after 45. (5) At that age the well man is the thin man who rises from the dinner table while a little hungry. (6) Whenever possible steal a half hour's rest during the middle of the day.

Circus Comes to Town

ABSENCE OF ACTION—Few of our baseball patrons realize that most of their time, during games, is spent in gaping at nothing, or that the ratio of action, while the ball is in motion, to the idle intervals when the athletes are winding themselves up for the next play or merely standing in loose attitudes, is 1 to 10—or one minute of play for every 10 of repose.

In baseball the average game lasts one hour and 58 minutes—taking those played in the major leagues last year. But in such games only 15 minutes of actual performance is clocked, including such items as 2-5ths seconds required from the time the ball leaves the pitcher's hand and smacks into the catcher's glove. Or the 1 and 1-5th seconds spent in throwing out a batter on an infield play.

This detracts nothing from the charms of the game any more than the fact that there are only 16 minutes of struggle in a college football game during the one hour and 55 minutes average between kickoff and curfew. One of the only games which give a full 60-minute value is hockey.

Miracle—When Ringling's circus moved into the Garden Tuesday night its enormous dunnage and trappings and the rigging of the rafters with specialized circus gear was accomplished in a few hours. The surfacing of the floor with six inches of dirt, which the Garden stores between times in a Cambridge warehouse, was transported, dumped and levelled when the special trains rolled up to rear entrance. No scene shifts so swiftly as that in the Garden, which can wipe out the musty odors and rubbish of the circus or the rodeo and set up the area as a mammoth ballroom with polished floors, or freeze a skating rink, or set up the boxing scaffold with its surrounding pews, or rear the woodsy effects of a sportsman's show—all within a few hours. It has built a six-day biocycle track in a day and torn it out in a night.

Yanks Sign Kid Phenom

SAN JOSE, Cal., May 23 (AP)—Leo Righetti, 17-year-old local prep school boy who pitched a no-hit no-run baseball game last Saturday, became the property of the New York Yankees today. He was signed to a contract of the Yankees' farm club, Newark, and will report to the International League team after his school term closes the middle of June.

Interviewers were told Righetti received a substantial bonus in the deal.

Braves Set for Invasion Of Four Western Clubs

By BILL GRIMES

After breaking even on their first swing around the Western circuit, the Braves arrived home this morning for a three-day series with the Pittsburgh Pirates, starting with a single game this afternoon at the Allston Wigwam.

Jim "Butterfly Ball" Tobin and Truett "Eephus Ball" Sewell have been nominated to pitch this afternoon. On the road, Jim Tobin chalked up two wins in three starts. He ran true to form in the Smoky City and turned back his old teammates 7 to 2 and then he was beaten by Clyde Shoun 1 to 0 in Cincinnati, the afternoon Mgr. Bill McKechnie's southpaw hurled a no-hitter against the Braves. "Tob" staged a comeback in St. Louis coming through with a 4 to 3 victory over the Cardinals in the rubber game of the series.

Out in Pittsburgh, Mgr. Frankie Frisch planned to start Truett Sewell in the fourth game. But, he changed his mind and came up with Xavier Resigno, who didn't last one round, but was in long enough to get nicked for five hits and before the game was over the Braves had belted Long John Gee for 14 hits and Wise for 4 for a total of 23 "blows."

SEWELL TOUGH FOR TRIBE

Sewell usually gives the Braves plenty of trouble and if he is right this afternoon, the Colemen must have their batting eyes peeled, or they will let "Old Tob" down.

Until they fell apart in Chicago, the Braves were the talk of the baseball world. After winning only three of their first 13 games the Colemen went into high gear against the Giants at home and then took to the road. They were on the winning end of three of the four games played in Pittsburgh, broke even with the Reds in Cincinnati and then took two out of three from the St. Louis Cardinals to become the first club to win a series from the league champions in the Mound City.

"We were going great guns," declared Manager Bob Coleman this morning, "until we hit Chicago. If you recall we did the same thing last year. The Cubs couldn't win a game last spring or this year until they met us. They sure ruined the best road trip the Braves had enjoyed in years. And, the worst of it is that I can't put my finger on the cause of the letdown.

"Even in the face of what happened at Wrigley Field, I'm satisfied that we have a far better ball club than when we started West. Ryan and Phillips were sensational afield and did some timely hitting, while Macon and Holmes were in the hair of our opponents almost every day.

"During our two-week home stay, we'll get in as much hitting practice as possible and I hope the boys will display the form that they showed in Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis. But, I don't want to see any more of the brand of ball they showed me in Chicago."

Gold Remembers Young Don

PHILADELPHIA, May 24 (AP)—From somewhere in North African waters the Phillies received from Warrant Officer Bill Gold a 100-franc note with the request that they see to it that Gold's 12-year-old son, Don, receive tickets for any home game with the Brooklyn Dodgers.

Great Pitching Staff to Aid Braves in New Drive

By JACK CONWAY

DESPITE THEIR collapse in their three-game series against the Cubs, the Braves will receive a fitting welcome when they open a home stand at National League Park this afternoon with the Pirates as opponents. Other than against Chicago, Bob Coleman's club made a brilliant showing in the West. Its feat of winning two out of three games from the St. Louis Cardinals was the high spot of the Western invasion.

Without any travel jumps and the varied diet one has to accept when traveling, the Braves should be able to resume their old victory habits while at home. The Pirates will be here through Friday, after which the Cubs come to town.

Jim Tobin

The Braves promise to play a different brand of baseball against the Cubs here than the one they showed in Chicago. There is a single game listed with the Cubs on Saturday, while a double-header is scheduled for Sunday. The fact the Braves will be out to gather revenge should add to the interest in Sunday's twin bill.

The St. Louis Cardinals will be here for a double-header on Memorial Day. The following Sunday the Cincinnati Reds will play two games with the Tribe.

The Braves have the pitchers to meet the strain of the three double-headers. Tobin, Javery, Andrews and Barrett give the Braves a strong front line hurling department, while the club is also plentifully supplied with reserves.

The Braves have one of the finest pitching staffs in baseball. If the flingers can get fair batting support, they will win their share of ball games.

Draft Delay Helps

THE BRAVES and other major league ball clubs have been aided considerably by the new draft regulations. It is now almost a certainty that there will not be occasion to call players over 26 years of age for the armed service before late fall. The effort to force persons classified in 4-F to enter a vital war industry has been abandoned. The Army did not wish to be placed in a position where it would have to induct those persons in 4-F who refused to accept war jobs. Industry, due to heavy insurance rinks, did not want to employ thousands of persons who were classified as physically unfit.

As a result of these conditions, baseball should be able to maintain most of its present strength for the remainder of the season. While the type of baseball offered is below the standard of previous years, the fans will support the game as long as the competition remains good.

There was widespread public interest in the recent spurt of the Braves. The public loves a winner, and if the Braves are able to produce a winning punch during their home stay they will not lack for support.

Perry Overmatched

EIGHTEEN-YEAR-OLD Aaron Perry of Washington was badly overmatched when he was sent against the experienced Henry Armstrong in a Washington ring. Regardless of what Perry had previously accomplished in the ring, he did not possess sufficient boxing background to punch it out with Armstrong.

A crowd of 18,000 persons paid $60,325 to witness the bout, which proved the popularity of boxing in Washington. George Marshall was the first person to recognize the fact Washington has become one of the leading sports cities in the country as a result of the large number of new residents of the Capital. Marshall has earned $100,000 a year with his Redskins, and is already almost sold out for next fall.

It would have been better to have used Perry against less experienced boxers than Armstrong. He would have drawn large crowds and helped boxing over a long period of time. As it was, the teen-age boxer was sacrificed for one big gate.

Szabo Defends Crown at Arena

Challenger Karl Davis, Texas, will be an even choice with the fans to take over the world's heavyweight wrestling championship from Sandor Szabo, California, tonight, in the main bout of Promoter Paul Bowser's weekly mat program at the Arena.

This match will mark Szabo's fourth defense of the title since he took over from the Golden Terror almost two months ago.

Davis' stellar performance in downing Maurice "The Angel" Tillet last week qualified the Texan for this title affair. Filling in for Bobby Managoff, Davis so battered the Angel in that first fall that the former world's champion was unable to continue as Davis took the decision. His roughhouse type of offensive will cause plenty of trouble for Szabo in this match tonight.

Three bouts on the supporting card will complete the program. The semi-final will pit Marvin Jones, Tennessee, against Dr. John "Drop-Kick" Murphy, Acton osteopath; the weekly special will pair Les Ryan, Fordham, and Jack Ross, Chicago, while the opener, slated for 8:15, will find Jack Marshall, Colorado, trading holds with George Linehan, Wayland.

20 Schooling Tests for Dogs

The second of the long series of schooling races at Wonderland, Revere, go to post tonight. The racing secretary has arranged more than 20 events which will bring out on the racing strip more than a score of youngsters from the Florida campaign. Racers and breeders believe there will be a new champion in the new crop of juveniles.

Keen Rube, Dipsy Dandy, Police Call, Tunisia, Battle Wagon and others which enjoyed big reputations on the Florida tracks a few weeks ago, will be seen in tonight's preliminary contests.

Gene Randle, Lew Randall, Art Wilson, Jimmy Gallagher, and many other nationally-known owners will be represented in tonight's races. The events will continue nightly until the lid comes off for the 1944 season on Monday night, June 5.

Only Three Teams in Eastern Loop Repeat

Championship teams in the Eastern League have found it difficult to repeat. During the 21 years of competition in the modern loop, only three teams ever have won two straight pennants—Williamsport in 1923 and 1924, Harrisburg in 1927 and 1928 and Scranton in 1939 and 1940.

Flags have been won with as low a number as 77 victories and the high number of wins registered in a season was 87. Four teams won 87—Scranton, last year; Wilkes-Barre, 1941; Harrisburg, 1927, and Williamsport, 1924.

Never Last—at Finish

DETROIT, Mich. — When Detroit dropped briefly into the cellar, Steve O'Neill cited precedent to back his prediction that the Tigers would not finish in that position.

In 43 years as an American League entry, Detroit has never closed a season in last place. The Tigers have been seventh five times, but never eighth.

None of the seven other clubs can boast of that distinction.

Willie Pep Victor In 72 out of 73 Bouts

BUFFALO, N. Y., May 24 (AP)—Willie Pep, New York-recognized featherweight champion of the world, today boasts a professional fight record of 72 victories in 73 bouts.

The 21-year-old Hartford, Ct., lad knocked out Joey Bagnato, 132¾, Toronto, last night in one minute and three seconds of the second round of a scheduled 10-round fight before 4500 fans.

Tuesday's Stars

JOE MEDWICK, Giants—Drove in both New York runs against Brooklyn in second inning of night game; moved into Big Six with .350 mark.

Phillies, Cubs Near Trade

PHILADELPHIA, May 24 (AP)—The Philadelphia Record said today that the Phillies and Chicago Cubs, who start a three-game series today, will probably negotiate to make a player trade.

The Record said the Phils would like to get a capable infield replacement for protective purposes and the Cubs appear to be the only team with a surplus. The story said Chicago Manager Charlie Grimm would demand one of the Phillies' rookie ace pitchers in exchange and said that neither General Manager Herb Pennock nor Manager Fred Fitzsimmons would be willing to give up any of the hurlers sought by Grimm.

The paper said Grimm is reported as willing to accept Ken Raffensberger, Charlie Schanz, Al Gerheauser or Chet Covington in exchange for an infielder and that the Phils are willing to take Shortstop Billy Schuster, Coast League rookie, or might consider Second Baseman Eddie Stanky.

Raffensberger, of York, goes up for his preinduction physical Friday.

English and Cantabs Face Test Outdoors

By MIKE GILLOOLY

Boston English and Cambridge Latin Schools, champions of the schoolboy leg-artists of the entire state—indoors—will both be having their troubles when they try to defend their titles on the cinders against prominent fields in the outdoor tests at Dickinson Stadium, Newton, Saturday afternoon.

As a matter of fact, another English abdication of the throne wouldn't even be classified as a surprise while a setback for the Cantabs could only be termed a mild upset.

English, in Class A, watched 10 valuable points fly out the window and into the Merchant Marine when Court Ellis left school for the armed forces. There was never any question that the Blue and Blue hurdler and high jumper could repeat his double indoor triumph to send Coach Bill Ohrenberger's team off to a lengthy lead in taking over the crown. And to rub it in a bit, these two first places will probably be handed to English's top challenger, Malden.

Without Ellis, Coach Ohrenberger can count on only two first places—the 440-yard run and the relay. Dave Krivitsky, in the quarter mile, has been very fast this spring so that the Blue and Blue can practically be certain of five points here. The relay team of Fran Murphy, Herchel Sternlieb, either Jack or Bob Farrell, and Krivitsky, looks like the best in the division.

CANTABS NEED PETROW

Beyond that, Coach Ohrenberger will have to rely on a few breaks and some second places to capture the bunting. Abe King may be good for a second in the hurdles; Murphy the same in the dash; Sternlieb or B. Farrell may garner a point in the 220; Roger Conant, nursing a bad knee, may possibly be in shape for the 880; Joe Flanagan should break into the scoring in the shot-put while Conrad Balfour could squeeze out a digit in the broad jump.

Coach Ed Murphy of the Cantabs will be keeping his fingers crossed in hoping that co-Capt. Henry Petrow's sore back allows him to hit his peak. Petrow, second last year in the dash, has been idle for a week and his absence could cost Cambridge Latin the title. If forced to the sidelines, he'll break up the championship relay combination of Jim Downey, Bill Braithwaite and John Harrington.

Braithwaite, co-captain, looms as a certain winner of the Class B 440, with Harrington a contender for honors in the 220 while Downey will meet some stiff competition in the 880. In the field events, Cambridge will have strength with John Griffin, second last year, capable of taking over first place and Art Scalise a serious threat in the broad jump.

Coach Murphy expects plenty of trouble from Melrose and Weymouth in this division.

The High School of Commerce, entering four boys in Class A, has boosted the field to an even dozen, while in B, there'll be 21 schools . . . all told, 316 athletes will be jamming the field . . . St. Mary's of Brookline will be facing a possibility of moving into a first-place tie in the Southern Division of the Catholic League tomorrow at the expense of undefeated St. Mary's of Waltham . . . other contests find St. Columbkille's at Mission; Malden Catholic at St. Clement's; St. John's, Cambridge, at St. Mary's, Lynn, and Immaculate Conception at Cathedral.

'Rajah' Bresnahan Wins

Making his political debut, Roger Bresnahan, former National League catcher and manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, won the Democratic nomination for county commissioner at Toledo, O. With two to be nominated, Roger led his ticket.

Cellar Clubs In Park Fight

The two clubs without a victory in the Park League meet tonight in what could be called a battle for the cellar when the West Roxbury A. A. and the Hicks Engineering tangle at the latter's new field, Draper Park, in West Roxbury.

Although both have yet to taste victory they have been playing a better than average brand of ball and an extra hit here or a better break there would have given each victories over the front runners.

In the only other game tonight the high flying Lineham Club, sole owners of third place because of last night's tie with Arsenal, visit first place Navy Yard at Lee Field in what should be a real test for the first place team.

The Navy Yard has the battery to stop any team in the league when it is right but it will have to be at its best to stop the Linehans. Bill Benson's team got away to a slow start but has picked up steam along the route and, at the minute, looks though it is headed right for the top.

Results Last Night

Lineham Club 6, Watertown Arsenal 0.
Navy Yard 9, Trailways 0.
Casey Club-Lawley's, postponed (wet grounds).

They Won Out—With dreams of seeing the circus, Pat Ward of Fall River, Don McKenzie of Somerville and Don Avilla of New Bedford (l. to r.) hitch-hiked to Boston Garden . . . penniless. There, police tabbed them, heard their story . . . and arranged to have them see the "big show." Here, at Station 1, the happy boys wait for their parents to claim them.
